

EXPLORERS for the Global Goals

WORLD'S LARGEST
LESSON

In partnership with

Supported by

Are you ready for a

Global Goals adventure?

Coming up, we have 5 adventures for you to explore with your friends and family, at home or at school.

You will need to make things, ask questions, use your imagination, work as a team and think big!

In partnership with
unicef
for every child

Supported by

If you can complete these adventures, you will become an Explorer for the Global Goals!

What are the Global Goals? You're about to find out!

But first, let's meet five amazing animals who can help us along the way.

In partnership with

Supported by

EKANI EMPATHY

 WORLD'S LARGEST LESSON

In partnership with

for every child

Supported by

EKANI EMPATHY

What a thoughtful explorer Ekani Empathy is.

He uses his incredibly sensitive nose to understand how others are feeling, so that he can do whatever it takes to help them.

He listens carefully with his magnificent ears to understand their challenges. Then he rolls up his sleeves and digs deep into his experiences and learning to see how he can help.

His ideas and words can make people happy and feel safe, and that makes him smile.

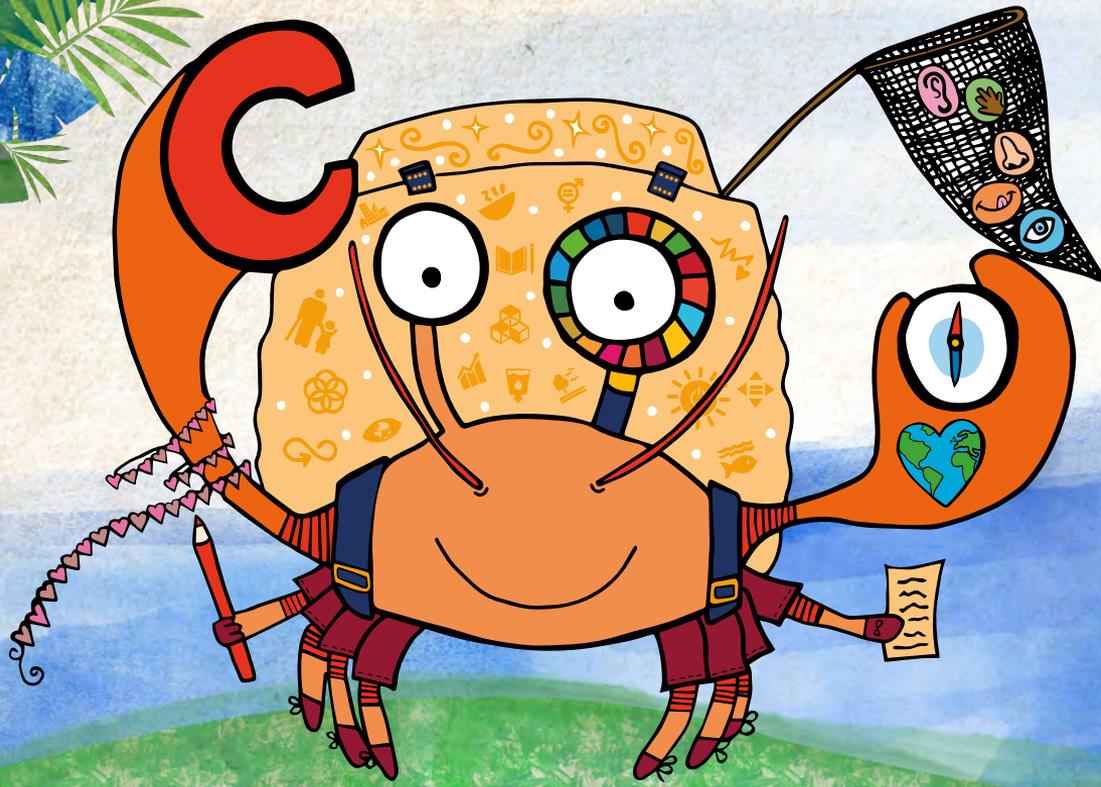

In partnership with

Supported by

CLAUDIE CURIOSITY

WORLD'S LARGEST
LESSON

In partnership with

Supported by

CLAUDIE CURIOSITY

Claudie Curiosity loves investigating the world around her.

She scurries around the globe, discovering new ideas everywhere she goes.

Her pincer is a curious shape — a C. It reminds her to always be curious and keep searching for answers to her questions.

In partnership with
unicef
for every child

PARKER

THE PROBLEM

SOLVER

WORLD'S LARGEST
LESSON

In partnership with

unicef
for every child

Supported by

PARKER THE PROBLEM SOLVER

Parker the Problem Solver loves to explore challenges.

Her incredible spotted markings are always changing. Every time she solves a problem another marking develops as her knowledge grows.

Some problems are big and tricky to figure out, but as her markings change and she grows, she will solve even more.

WORLD'S LARGEST
LESSON

In partnership with

Supported by

CRAWFORD CREATIVITY

WORLD'S LARGEST
LESSON

In partnership with

unicef
for every child

Supported by

CRAWFORD CREATIVITY

A true explorer, Crawford Creativity zooms around the world on a mission of discovery.

Crawford's special tool belt powers his creativity. With paints and pencils he shows how he can create a better world.

Crawford Creativity knows that the best ideas can develop when we work together, ask questions and spark ideas.

In partnership with

Supported by

CASSIA

COMMUNICATION

WORLD'S LARGEST
LESSON

In partnership with

unicef
for every child

Supported by

CASSIA

COMMUNICATION

Cassia Communication helps to connect the people of the world.

She shares their stories and messages so that we can all work together.

What amazing ears she has! She uses them to listen carefully to what people are saying, so she can understand what they need and what she can do to help.

WORLD'S LARGEST
LESSON

In partnership with

unicef
for every child

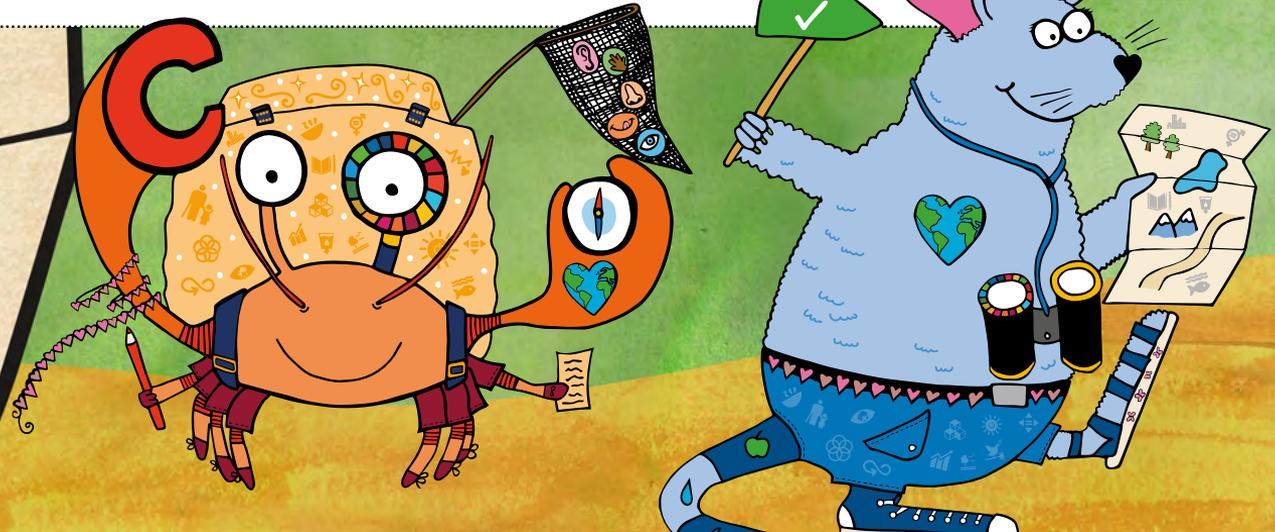

Supported by

Now you've met your fellow explorers, so...

It's time for an adventure.

Let's go!

In partnership with
unicef
for every child

